$6000 LOPPED OFF SO. PAC. ASSESSMENT

Original Charges Was $26,268—Cut to $19,943 in Chapman's Report to City Council Last Night

Pullman Company Figure Raised From $17,536 to $19,899—Final Consideration on Next Wednesday Night

Over $6000 is taken off of the assessment of the Southern Pacific Company for the Pullman avenue paving work in the report on the matter rendered to the council last night by City Engineer Chapman. The original assessment against the Southern Pacific Company was $26,268. According to Chapman's figures, arrived at after a conference with the street committee, the new assessment will be $19,943.

The assessment of the Pullman Company for the same job was increased from $17,536 to $19,899.

The assessment on the front lots are increased in the report from $341 to $395.

The report was accepted, and the matter will come up for final consideration tomorrow night, when it is expected that attorneys for the Southern Pacific Company and the Pullman Company will be in attendance at the adjourned meeting.

TALK ON JOBLESS BY STATE BOARD REPRESENTATIVE

Assuring the city the aid of the Immigration and Housing Commission in handling the jobless problem, George Welton, representative of the state board, addressed the council last night.

He said that every city should try to solve the problem by itself and laid particular stress on the folly of trying to shirk the problem by forcing the unemployed to move on. He suggested that the council put the local jobless to work cleaning streets or lots as a starter.

The matter was referred to the Social Service Bureau.

Flour Cost Soaring Local Bakers to Meet Soon Bread at Ten Cents?

The long arm of Mars, God of War, has reached across oceans and continents and is about to reach the purses of Richmond residents.

The price of bread is going up in Richmond.

Although no local bakers would agree to having their names used for publication, they admitted that a movement is on foot to hold a meeting of Richmond bread makers, when some agreement will be reached by which all their loaves will uniformly shrink or go up in price.

To Put Poolrooms on Same Basis as Saloons in New City Ordinance

City Attorney Hall Is Ordered to Redraft Laws on Conduct of Billiard Halls.

Will Prevent Changing of Owners Same Day as License Is Revoked.

City Attorney Hall was last night ordered to redraft the ordinance regarding the conducting and licensing of pool halls of the city. Hall was instructed to have the new ordinance ready at an early date.

When the new ordinance is drafted pool hall licenses will be in about the same status as saloon licenses. If a pool hall license is revoked it will be impossible for the man who has his license revoked to sell out to some party who can start in business at the same place the next day.

WELL KNOWN LOCAL WOMAN DIES; HUSBAND IS PROSTRATE

After a brief illness, Mrs. Mary A. Germanhausen, well known local matron, died yesterday morning at the Craven hospital. Her remains are at the Smallwood undertaking parlors. The funeral arrangements have not been announced.

Mrs. Germanhausen's death will come as a shock to scores of the friends of her lifetime in this city, who did not know that her illness was serious.

John Germanhausen, husband of the deceased, is seriously ill at the Germanhausen home at 13 Eleventh street. Constant worry over his wife's condition has made a nervous wreck of the strong man.

He was taken suddenly ill while on his way to the hospital shortly after noon yesterday. Reports from his bedside at a late hour last night were to the effect that Germanhausen was resting as well as could be expected.

Early this morning he dropped off into a restful sleep, the first in three days.

Mrs. Germanhausen had resided in Richmond for nine years. She was born in Sacramento, and at the time of death was 47 years of age. Beside her husband, the deceased is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Ed Miner of Rust and Mrs. Paul Glasser of Richmond; a son, aged 15 years, and a daughter, aged 9 years.

H. T. BID ON WHARF IS REJECTED

Was Lowest Offer—To Prepare New Plans and Specifications and Call for New Proposals on Big City Project.

Healy-Tibbitts Was the Lowest Figure Submitted and Was Only One Not Rejected Two Weeks Ago.

Healy-Tibbitts bid on the construction of municipal wharf No. 1 was rejected by the council last night, when the matter came before that body. The bid of the company was for $270,000. Haviland and Tibbitts, harbor engineers, were ordered to go ahead and prepare new plans and specifications for the wharf.

Two weeks ago the council rejected all of the wharf bids with the exception of that of Healy & Tibbitts. This was deemed the best of those bids received.

Haviland and Tibbitts are expected to have the new plans and specifications ready in a short time.

Divorce Denied Local Woman by Oakland Judge

Mrs. T. A. Lewis, Who Asked for Separation on Grounds of Cruelty, Loses Suit.

Mrs. Edith Lewis yesterday lost her suit for divorce from Thomas A. Lewis, clerk in the employ of the Standard Oil Company.

Judge Harris, in Oakland, after an all day hearing on the case, denied her the divorce. Mrs. Lewis asked for divorce on the grounds of cruelty and asked for the custody of the couple's two children, both girls, aged 9 and 7. She also wanted $35 per month alimony.

Lewis was defended by Attorney J. M. Opsahl. The couple live at 403 B street.

BRINGS SUIT AGAINST MILL CO. OF OAKLAND

George Bruce, who has offices in Richmond, has brought suit in Oakland, charging that the property of the Bruce Lumber and Mill Company of Oakland has been manipulated for the benefit of the Hogan Lumber Company, and asking that a deed of the company's mill property in Berkeley be set aside.

Hugh Hogan, his son, H. W. Hogan, and a brother, T. P. Hogan, hold the controlling interest in both companies.

Bruce declares that the Bruce company owes $58,000. He also charges that when the company negotiated a loan from a San Francisco bank a deed to the Bruce property was given as security, but was never recorded, and that later when a loan was made from the First National Bank of Berkeley no mention was made of this deed in the statement to the bank.

'TWISTER' HITS CITY: WINDOWS, WIRE, FENCE, SUFFER

The terrific wind that swept north and east over Richmond shortly after 1:30 yesterday afternoon developed into a real cyclone shortly after passing the Richmond high school and shrieked across East Richmond, breaking windows, snapping electric wires, hurling planks into the air and carrying away fences.

The length of the twister was over a mile. It having spent its force by the time it reached the Grand Canyon Chateau. Seventy-five feet was the greatest width of the little hurricane.

Starting near the high school, it tore the flag to shreds, and continued to the Raymond Apartments, corner Twenty-fourth and Macdonald avenues, where it broke two windows in the apartments of M. A. Hayes, of the firm of Burg, Hayes & Hopping.

A high voltage wire of the P. G. & E. Company was snapped in front of the apartment house and, flamed, flashed and spluttered dangerously for some time. Mrs. Hayes, who was in her apartment nearly on a level with the wire, was much alarmed by the unusual happening.

Another window was broken in an unoccupied apartment, and a clothes drying frame of iron and wood on the roof was torn loose and crashed to the ground. A ten-foot board half-inch lumber was caught in the twist and carried to the roof of the three-story apartment house.

Continuing northeast over the sparsely settled district, it snatched a fence from around a home at Twenty-ninth and Grand boulevard and carried parts of it for over a block. At the corner of Park avenue and San Pablo it broke the plate glass window of a store, which was the last of its series of depredations.

LOCAL BOY IS MADE MANAGER OF N. O. PLANT

Walter Berndt, son of Superintendent S. Berndt of the Winhaven plant of the California Wine Association, has been appointed manager of the New Orleans offices and plant of the company. This is an excellent promotion, for Berndt Jr. is but 21 years old.

The New Orleans establishment is a large distributing plant of California wines, shipped to a large extent from the local winery. Offices and a warehouse are maintained in the southern city, and a small working force of men will be under the new manager.

Young Berndt has the rare accomplishment of expert wine tasting, which was taught him by his father, and which makes it possible for him to hold the position. When he departed from Richmond about two weeks ago, it was not known that he was going to take his new position.

RETURNS FROM VISIT.

Attorney William Burns has returned from a visit with relatives in Auburn, Placer county. Burns' sister, Miss Irene Burns, was elected superintendent of schools in Placer county at the November election.

CHANGE TRAIN TIME.

The local S. P. office has been notified that hereafter No. 12, the Shasta Limited, will leave San Francisco at 11 a. m. and arrive in Portland at 1:50 p. m. the following day. This will remain in effect until the new time table goes into effect.

How City is Robbed by Record-Herald

Councilman Lane Declares at Meeting Last Night That He Will Take Matter Before Grand Jury

"There has been collusion between two of the local papers for years in the submitting of figures for city advertising and city printing," said Councilman William Lane at the meeting of the city council last night, when the argument over the opening of the bids of the three local papers for advertising was in progress.

"I believe that the Daily News should get its chance to bid on the city's advertising. I think if that paper is allowed to bid the taxpayers of the city will be saved thousands of dollars. What this council wants before it awards bids is competition. If the Daily News has not been in business a year at this time, I think this body should hold up the awarding of the bids for advertising until such time as the Daily News has obtained its legal footing."

The argument over the awarding of the bids for advertising lasted for an hour. In the end the matter was referred to the finance committee of the council, of which Councilman Ludewig is chairman.

Lane opened up the matter by saying that the city had never had real competition bid on the city's advertising. He stated that the Daily News would not be in business a year until January 25, and that he thought it right and proper that the bids be not opened.

This plan met with immediate objection on the part of A. F. Bray of Martinez, who stated he was representing the Record-Herald.

District Attorney Thomas D. Johnston was then given the floor. He stated:

"This council should encourage competition. I think this body now has a chance to save the taxpayers of Richmond some money on their printing. It is the duty of the council to reject all advertising bids received tonight, inasmuch as the Daily News will not establish its legal footing by being in business a year until two weeks hence."

City Attorney Hall, when asked for his legal opinion by Mayor Gerard, said: "The Daily News, not being a year old, has no right to print legal notices."

Next followed Attorney W. F. Freudenberg, representing the Independent. He said the council must award the bids, as that was the line set for the opening of the bids.

Freudenberg's oratory seemed endless. In a final outburst he said: "It would be against law, reason and justice not to award the bids tonight." Then he sat down.

T. D. Johnston pointedly asked: "Why this hurry? The council should be willing for a postponement. A postponement is liable to save money for the city of Richmond. The city is entitled to the best and the cheapest prices on its printing."

Bray got the floor again, and pleaded for the evening sheet. He said it was not fair to his clients to be compelled to turn in a bid and then not have it given consideration. He advised the council to "disregard, throw out, reject and not open the bid of the Daily News, because of its illegality." He then delved into the codes and read a lengthy legal diatribe, which few outside of himself could interpret and understand.

Lane moved that the bids of the Record-Herald and the Independent be rejected. Lane took occasion to say during his remarks that the legal advertising appearing in the Record-Herald had been padded. He exhibited one advertisement, which he said was padded and printed in eight-point instead of six-point type.

"I propose to take this outrage against the taxpayers before the Grand Jury," said

Lane.

"The people have been paying too much too long, and I am going to see that it is stopped."

Lane's motion that the bids of the Independent and Record-Herald be rejected was seconded by Councilman Peary.

Councilman Ludewig took the position that the matter should be left to the finance committee, of which he is chairman.

"I know there has been no competition in the matter of city advertising in the past. I know there should be competition. So does every member around this table. This matter should be left to the finance committee to figure out the lowest price that the city can get this advertising for. We might and a chance to get it done cheaper."

Councilman Hartnutt declared that he was not in favor of the rejection of all the bids.

Then Lane withdrew his motion and seconded the motion of Ludewig that the matter be left in the hands of the finance committee for an early report.

Attorney Johnston, getting the floor, stated that as long as the bid of the Daily News was not a legal bid at that time that the News did not have to have its bid opened. This assertion was refuted by Richard Williams, business manager of the News.

Williams created a stir when he said: "The Record-Herald has charged this city several thousand dollars more than it legally had coming. We propose to see that the Record-Herald pays this money back to the city."

That the people are behind the Daily News and the efforts of its publishers to get fair and impartial consideration was shown by the rounds of applause that greeted Williams' remarks.

Bray again took the floor and declared that any action taken, outside of the rejection of the bid of the Daily News would be unfair. Bray's insinuations that the council might not do what was fair and right by his client aroused the ire of Ludewig.

Bray was given a roasting that it seldom falls to the misfortune of a man to receive. Ludewig declared that the council, and he as one of its members, did not have to be told what it could do and could not do by a Martinez attorney. For ten minutes Bray was forced to submit to a tongue-lashing for his insinuation that his clients might not get fair consideration.

When the matter of referring the city advertising to the finance committee was put to a vote it was carried unanimously.

The methods of the Record-Herald and Independent were clearly shown when the bids on the printing were read. In many items the Independent bid one cent. On these same items the Record-Herald's bids were as high as $19.50. It was the general impression among those present at last night's meeting that it was cut and dried between the Independent and the Herald that the Herald should have the advertising and the Independent the printing.

The Independent bid above the Herald on every item on advertising, and the Herald bid far above the Independent on the great majority of the printing items.

BUCKING THE JITNEY BUS.

Within a few weeks we have seen the birth of a new branch of the transportation industry. The "jitney" bus has apparently come to stay. Already an association has been formed in San Francisco, where, it is said, there will shortly be 500 of the little passenger vehicles operating.

At present many of the cars are being driven by their owners. The business is split up into hundreds of individual businesses, each competing with the other. This won't last long. The newly formed association will assign the various cars to certain districts. Soon we will have the jitney bus millionaires and the jitney bus trust.

With the birth of the new industry comes a new trade, that of the jitney bus driver. The driver of the busses have duties somewhat different from those of the taxi or privately employed chauffeur. A union of jitney bus drivers is probable.

In the space of a week or two, we have seen the birth and the development of a brand new industry, which will produce a new trade and in all probability a new batch of millionaires.

The head of the new association (or trust) in San Francisco is quoted as saying that for every one man laid off by the street car companies because of the jitneys, two can be employed by the association. This may or may not be true.

But it is true that it is futile to buck the jitney bus. It is here to stay. It is here because it is necessary.

For years in most of the big cities of the country street cars have been giving wretched service. Cars have been crowded to the point of suffocation. The great companies operating the cars have only improved service when forced to. Now comes the jitney bus, with quicker service at the same price, to relieve the situation.

When the linotype machine, making one printer capable of setting about as much type as four hand-working printers could, was introduced, many printers feared for their positions. The new machine was hated. But with the new machine, the newspapers grew in size. More type was set. The Typographical Union fixed hours to conform with the new conditions.

The workers adjusted themselves to the conditions brought by the improved machinery, as they always have had to do and always will have to.

It has been the same with the introduction of other improved machinery. The workers have had to adjust themselves and all their protests have done no good.

Progress, constant change, improved and faster way of things are all inevitable.

For workers in the transportation industry to fight the jitney bus is to place themselves in exactly the same position as the workers of England who smashed the weaving machines because they could do work faster and better with less men.

ONE WAY TO SETTLE A STRIKE.

The offer of the United Workers of America to buy the Bache-Bennan Coal Company's mine in Hartford Valley, Ark., and thus settle the differences between the operators and the workers forever, seems to be significant of a coming change in the industrial order.

The union plans to operate the mine on a co-operative basis. Why not other industries operated on the same basis?

There is no reason why the miners can't operate the mine. It would settle the wages and hours question once and for all in that mine. There would no longer be the few on the top to grab most of the profits. What the labor of one miner produced would belong to that miner. There would be no man on top to take nine-tenths of it.

And if the miners can do it, the workers in other industries can do it.

If we were the owners of that mine we wouldn't sell to the miners' union at any price. We would figure that if the other workers of the world saw the miners getting away with it, some sudden and uncomfortable change for our class might result.

She Admired Bravery

By F. A. MITCHEL.

It was in the late autumn. Edith and I were walking in the woods kicking up the dead leaves, for there were only a few left on the trees. We were both young, I twenty-two, Edith eighteen. I was sweet on Edith, and when a man of that age is sweet on a girl the first idea that enters his head is that she can only love a heroic personage who combines every manly attribute. When a man of forty gets sweet on a woman he fears that she won't consider that he has money enough to make it worth her while to marry him.

While Edith and I were walking along to the pleasant sound of the kicked leaves I was thinking about how many virtues I must possess to win her. It was in wartime, and I naturally supposed that military glory would count for a good deal.

"We're getting quite a number of instances of bravery from this war in Europe," I remarked.

"Yes," she replied, "they're splendid. Just think of a young earl not yet thirty years old, with the life of a nobleman before him, giving his life for his country."

"Would you like to be the widow of such a man?"

"I would grieve for him, but I would glory in having had such a husband."

This was not encouraging for me, a man of peace. It was some time before I tried to find out any more of those traits I did not possess. The absence of which would induce Edith to turn me down.

"I read an account some time ago," I said, "of a Belgian soldier who was placed in front of a company of Germans who were attacking his countrymen. Seeing him, the Belgians lowered their rifles. 'Fire!' he cried. 'For heaven's sake, fire!' A volley swept the Belgian and the Germans away together."

"What a noble sacrifice!" exclaimed Edith fervently.

"Do you suppose," I said, "that if you had been that Belgian's wife and a witness of the scene and his countrymen had looked to you to approve his order to fire you could have made the sacrifice yourself?"

This was a poser. Edith made no reply for quite awhile; then she said that she would have preferred to compromise by having them fire on her. I was not disposed to let her out in this way and persisted in having a direct answer, whereupon she said that she was afraid the test would be too much for her. She might be able to make the sacrifice and she might not. Of one thing she was certain. Her heart would be buried with that noble Belgian.

It was apparent to me that to win Edith I must do something heroic.

"Do you know," I said, "I have concluded that this war is a struggle between reaction and progress. I consider it the duty of America to join in it on the side of progress."

"So do I," was the prompt reply.

"What is true of a nation is true of one of its individual citizens."

"What do you mean?"

"That it is my duty to fight for the world's progress. I'm going abroad to enlist."

Edith looked grave.

"Don't you think it my duty?"

"No, I don't."

"Why not? Haven't you agreed with me that it is our duty as a nation to fight on the side of progress, and what is the duty of a nation is the duty of its individual citizens?"

"Yes, I suppose so. But I think it would be very foolish for you to go all the way over there to get your self shot."

I looked down sideways at Edith. The idea of my making myself food for powder evidently troubled her.

"I said next week."

There was no comment on this for awhile. Presently Edith asked me in a faltering voice why I had said nothing of this before. I was some time framing my answer. When it came I spoke in a choked voice:

"Because I dread a parting."

"With whom?" She kept her eyes bent on the ground.

"You," I faltered.

I went on to tell her that I loved her, and she confessed that my love was returned.

"How hard for us to part," I said, "on the eve of our betrothal!"

"We will not part," she said firmly.

"My duty calls."

"What duty?"

"To progress, civilization, the cause of freedom."

"Let it call."

"I might have an opportunity to die one of those noble deaths we have been talking about."

"You'll do no such thing. You'll stay at home."

"But think how proud you will be of your soldier lover."

"I don't want a soldier lover."

"Must I go unsupported by the knowledge that you are willing to sacrifice?"

"You'll not go at all."

We were sitting on a low horizontal limb of a tree. Edith threw her arms around me to hold me from going to fight for an idea which I had no idea of fighting for. I gave in at last and consented to remain at home.

After we were married one night we heard burglars below. My wife in order to prevent my going down to attack them locked the door and threw the key out from the window.

LABOR NEWS

"In unity there is strength, united we stand divided we fall."

STATE LABOR BODY PLANS LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM AT MEETING IN SAN FRANCISCO

Legislation which will amend the anti-alien land law and make it impossible for Asiatics to lease land in California, the prohibition of the use of the police third degree, the abolishment of capital punishment, jury trial for alleged contempt of court in labor disputes and an anti-injunction law are some of the measures in the legislative program of the California State Federation of Labor, which was sent to Sacramento today.

The program, adopted yesterday at the meeting of the executive board of the State Federation, at which the local Labor Council was represented by Fred W. Heckman, and recommended to the governor and the present session of the State Legislature, follows in full:

1. An anti-injunction law, similar to the recently enacted Massachusetts law and in line with more recent federal legislation.
2. Jury trial for alleged contempt of court in labor disputes with reasonable exceptions to cover contempt committed in the presence of the court.
3. To abolish the property qualification of jurors so as to make it possible to select jurors from the great register instead of the assessment rolls.
4. To strengthen the workmen's compensation act: (a) by including so-called occupational diseases; (b) by including farmers and other exempted classes; (c) by shortening the waiting period from two weeks to one week; (d) by compelling certain employers who carry no accident insurance to file a suitable bond with the commission.

5. Remedial measures for the unemployment problem: (a) state employment bureaus; (b) more stringent regulation and ultimate abolishment of private employment agencies; (c) the appointment of a special representative committee or designation of some existing commission to conduct an extended investigation into: (i) the wisdom of devising some scheme for out-of-work insurance that will not have the effect of drawing into our state the unemployed of the nation; (ii) the best methods for dealing with the unemployed and the vagrant; (iii) possible schemes for regularizing and dovetailing private enterprises, not in cities alone, but in the rural districts as well, so that the burden may be justly and fairly borne by the state as a whole; (iv) ways and means for providing public work during periods of depression.

6. Housing and sanitation: (a) more definite laws governing sanitation and housing in labor camps; (b) complete revision of the laws regulating tenements and lodging houses.

7. HOSPITAL JOB IS STRUCK: WORST WORK IN COUNTY SAY UNIONISTS

Yesterday Business Agent Fred W. Heckman, in company with Antone Johansen, organizer for the State Building Trades Council, went to Martinez and called the union workers off the county hospital job.

Three carpenters, two pipe fitters and an electrician struck.

The contractors have absolutely refused to employ union lathers; cement workers have been doing carpenters' work, and four Italian laborers have been employed on the outside plastering.

There has been trouble on the job since it was started. Heckman declared yesterday that it is the poorest piece of work in the county. Recently the porch of the building, constructed by scab labor, fell to pieces and it cost just $2000 to have the work done over.

The employing of laborers to do skilled mechanics' work has proven in this case, as it always does, poor economy.

MINER'S UNION WOULD BUY MINE TO SETTLE STRIKE

FORT SMITH, Ark., Jan. 11.—The United Mine Workers of America have offered $200,000 for the holdings of the Bache-Renman Coal Company, in the Hartford valley of Arkansas, it became known here last night. It was believed here that the deal would be consummated within a few days and thus bring to an end the troubles in the coal mining region.

Under the terms of the offer all difficulties growing out of troubles between the coal company and miners are to be dropped. This would include the dismissal of the company's suit for $1,450,000 damages against the United Mine Workers of America, the local unions in Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas and the national officers in connection with the destruction of four of the company's surface plants at Prairie Creek last July. It was understood that creditors of the Bache-Renman Syndicate, ten of whose companies are now in the hands of a federal receiver, have approved the plan.

It was asserted that the union intends operating the mines for the benefit of its members temporarily, and, unless they can be sold at a profit, will retain them for operation on a co-operative basis.

HECKMAN WILL REPORT THURSDAY

Business Agent Fred W. Heckman, member of the executive board of the California State Federation of Labor, and who represented this county at the meeting of the board Sunday when labor's legislative program was drafted and adopted, will make his report before the local council next Thursday night.

ARIZ. GOVERNOR PLEADS FOR LABOR LAWS

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 11.—In his biennial message Governor George W. P. Hunt today pleaded that the second State Legislature, which convened at noon, enact laws creating a state labor bureau and employment system which would assure good labor conditions in hard times as well as good. He also advocated a minimum wage for women, and suggested some substitute for the anti-alien labor recently declared unconstitutional, declaring that the practice of some employers who import 50 to 60 per cent foreign labor, was an unjust burden on the people of the state.

RAIN FORCES POSTPONMENT

Inclement weather prohibited the initial appearance of the concert band of Standard Oil employees, that was to have been held last night. Wednesday night has been set as the postponed date, and on that evening a big auto truck bearing the musicians will parade Macdonald avenue bearing the band.

The band will give a dance on January 16.

SCENE FROM "AS YE SOW" TO BE SHOWN AT THE RICHMOND THEATER WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY

Without exaggeration the most magnificent production ever brought to the Richmond theater is being shown today for the last time in "The Sign of the Cross," with Dustin Farnum in the leading role. The play depicts the scenes in pagan Rome at the time the early Christian martyrs were being fed to the lions and in other ways sacrificed to feed the bloodthirsty desires of the mob that visited the arena. Scenes that have all the verity of an historical reproduction of the grandeur of ancient Rome, the wonderful palaces, the gorgeous processions are shown as never before on any reel.

And side by side with these the life of the early Christians, who counted everything but dress for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ, of those early martyrs of the Cross, who died in bloody arenas for the cause they loved, is shown with startling reality.

For comedy there is being shown

"In His New Profession," a Charles

Chaplin laugh producer. In addition there is a two-reel drama entitled,

"Crippled."

MUSICIANS' UNION INSTALLS NEW OFFICERS AT BIG MEETING

Richmond's progressive, active and growing Musicians' Union installed new officers last night and rounded out the evening with a concert, and a general good time.

The following officers were installed:

President, C. A. Apperson; first vice president, R. D. Noble; second vice president, J. E. Somerville; third vice president, Paul Richards; secretary, W. R. Fuller; treasurer, J. Cavaller; sergeant-at-arms, W. A. Kremer; trustees, R. D. Noble, C. A. Apperson, J. Cavaller and W. A. Kremer.

After the installation an orchestra of 14 pieces, composed of the members of the union and with one exception all residents of Richmond, gave a concert which was a credit to themselves and to Richmond.

Wives of several of the members attended. Refreshments were served.

The union is growing and anticipates an active and prosperous year.

In Jail: Theft of Cash Is Charge

Frank Gimines, a Mexican, is in the city jail on a charge of robbery, sworn to by J. G. Buamann, a local waiter.

Gimines is suspected of being the man who entered Buamann's room in the Richmond Hotel and stole $8 Sunday morning.

Buamann grappled with the intruder, but he got away. Fifteen minutes after he notified the police Gimines was under arrest by Sergeant Jennings.

On Gimines' person when captured was found a small kit of burglars' tools.

His bail was set at $1200.

DEMPSEY TURNS UP, VIGOROUSLY DENIES DEATH

Careful investigation on the part of Deputy Coroner E. B. Smallwood developed that reports to the effect that a man named P. Dempsey was missing from Port Costa are false. It was thought for a time that the remains of the man found at Pinole Saturday noon were those of the man said to have been missing from Port Costa. Smallwood also interviewed the heads of the Stevedores' union in Oakland and San Francisco, but they know nothing of a Dempsey, who is missing.

The residence of the dead man, his occupation and reasons for his apparent suicide are still as much of a mystery as they were Saturday.

In the hope that some friend or relative of Dempsey may appear, the body will be held at the Smallwood parlors for several days.

ASK FOR BETTER FIRE PROTECTION

Better fire protection was asked of the council in a communication received last night from those who conduct the Craven hospital, located at the corner of Tenth and Clifton. It was stated in the communication that there is a single hose connection one block from the hospital. In order to properly safeguard the lives of the patients of the hospital in case of fire, a double hydrant is asked for. The matter was referred to the fire committee.

LABOR OF STATE DRAFTS PLANS FOR RELEASE OF "RIOTERS"

Fred Heckman will report to the Labor Council next Thursday, in reviewing the work accomplished by the executive board of the State Federation, that both the federation and the San Francisco Labor Council will appropriate money to be used in working for the pardon of Ford and Suhr, who are serving life sentences for the participation in the hop "riots."

Literature will be circulated and posters distributed over the state. An attorney will be employed and every effort will be made to pardon the two workers, through whose efforts rotten conditions in the labor camps of the state have been bettered.

PIRCHER - ORTMAN WEDDING IS VERY NOVEL

Among ways of announcing an engagement, that used by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ortmann of Berkeley in announcing that of their daughter, Miss Theresa to Leo C. Pircher of Richmond is a novel one. The names of the engaged couple were written on a slip of paper and inserted in a birthday cake, which was cut in the presence of a number of their friends at the bride-to-be's home Saturday night. The couple were heartily congratulated.

The wedding will be held early in the spring. Pircher, 742 South Thirtieth street, is an employee of the Standard Oil Company, and Miss Ortmann, until recently a telephone girl, is well known here.

"Tales of a Million Dollars"

$75,000 to Stop the Car

Col. W. S. Rheem was running the U. S. Railroad, which ran by the corner of Twenty-third and Macdonald avenue, Richmond. John Nicholl owned the land all around.

"Colonel," said John, "I'll give you a chunk of land on that corner, worth $2000, if you will stop your cars there."

The Colonel remembered the grain fields around that corner and smiled to think that one little piece could be worth $2000. But he stopped the cars.

That was seven years ago. Since then 35 feet have been taken off one side of the piece for streets, and 20 feet off for another. Today it is part of Burg Bros., Nicholl-Macdonald Ave. Business Center Tract.

And the last report says that it has been sold to a Los Angeles for $75,000!

John Nicholl knew what that piece was worth—and what it was going to be worth. The way he appraised it is exactly the way we outline in our book, "How to Buy Real Estate for Profit." YOU can do it—for we will send this book FREE FOR MAILING THE COUPON BELOW.

Bathing Suit for Plump Creditor of Kozy Kove!

Every day more bills against the Kozy Kove come to light. Several west side merchants have an exceeding wrathful remembrance of the brilliant bay shore resort, but others have decided to enter the result of their misplaced trust in the "profit and loss column" and let it go at that.

Nevertheless, now that the place has been attached, west side merchants are speculating as to what they will probably receive as their part of the spoils. Some have declared that they will move one of the shower baths into their back yards, and enjoy a sprinkle daily, some that they would like a few boards of the dance pavilion for their parties in the event of a tango tea being held at their homes, but the business was settled when the place was sold and west side merchants abandoned it.

Richmond Club Talks of Expo. at Meeting

The meeting yesterday of the Richmond Club was in charge of Mrs. Kate Smith, chairman of the civics section. Believing that the world's exposition that is soon to open in San Francisco and Richmond's participation in it was the most important subject that could be considered by the club on its civics day, Mrs. Smith arranged to have some good speakers to address the meeting on the interesting subject.

John Birmingham, county exposition commissioner, exhibited a number of blue prints of the big world-show. He asked the club's assistance especially in the making of plans for the women's rest room and also asked the members to write him any suggestions that they might think of.

H. J. Wernse, chairman of the Richmond exposition committee, spoke on Richmond's section of the beautiful California building and laid emphasis on the necessity of supplying plenty of good literature and photographs on Richmond.

Miss Edith Wilbur, a member of the Industrial Commission, was the third speaker. She also spoke on the needs of a good exhibit being at the fair to properly represent Richmond.

Mrs. Smith, for the club, assured the visitors of the co-operation of the Richmond Club. After the speech making they were shown through the beautiful new home of the club.

Next Monday the meeting will be in charge of Mrs. W. W. Felch, chairman of the educational section. The exposition will also be the big theme at that meeting. Mrs. Anna B. Horner has prepared a paper on the sculpture of the fair. Refreshments will be served and the meeting will be a general get-together gathering of the club members. Mrs. C. B. Evans will be in charge of the refreshments. The meeting will be for members only.

They were married in the Polish Roman Catholic church in San Francisco Sunday morning, and returned to Richmond.

LUCE COMES TO TERMS WITH FIELDER

Manager Luce of the Richmond Elks yesterday came to terms with Harvey Christianson, and the Oakland boy was signed to play center field for the locals this season. Just what Christianson is to get for his playing was not made public. Dickering has been going between Christianson and Luce for some time.

As well as being a good outfielder and heavy hitter, Christianson is a crackjack catcher. Should anything happen to Cliff Cleek at any time, the new member of the club can jump into the breach and hold his own with the best of them.

He played with Modesto last season, catching Phil Mobley. Modesto had one of the fastest semi-pro clubs in the state, and Christianson's ability to stick with the Reds all of the season, speaks volumes for his ability. He has had several good league ball offers, but he prefers semi-pro ball if he can get a job.

Luce has found a job for Christianson, and he will take up his residence here next week.

VALLEJO TO HAVE CITY BASEBALL LEAGUE

Formal plans as to the launching of the Vallejo City baseball league were decided upon Saturday night, when several of the managers who have already announced themselves as willing to start the ball rolling came together and made arrangements for an official meeting to draw up the necessary by-laws, schedule, etc., that would officially organize the league. The meeting is billed for some evening next week at a date to be announced later.

The league has been under discussion for some little time, but, owing to the opening of the season being so far off, it was decided to defer action on the proposition until later on.

TOMMY HORAN TO LEAVE VALLEJO CLUB

VALLEJO, Jan. 11.—Tommy Horan, crack Vallejo third sacker, will not do duty on the local team this summer. If the negotiations which are under way between the local pitcher and Manager Healey of the Petaluma legions come through to his satisfaction.

Horan's classy work while a member of the St. Ignace and the Vallejo nines attracted the attention of the Sonoma county baseball king last year. He was given the once over in one of the big contests of the chicken town aggregation and made such a hit with the fans that Healey set out to grab him for the coming season.

PETALUMA CLUB SIGNS JOHNSON

PETALUMA, Jan. 11.—Ferdie Johnson, who pitched and played the outfield for the San Rafael Club last year, will be signed by Manager Healey to play the outfield this season and it is probable that Les Ryan will be seen back on first base again. Both are heavy hitters and Johnson

NEXT MEETING OF BACKERS OF STATE LEAGUE WILL BE HELD HERE ON JANUARY 24

Little of a definite nature was accomplished at the meeting of those behind the movement to form a State League, embracing teams from Richmond, Oakland, Sacramento, Stockton, San Jose and Alameda, held yesterday in the Continental Hotel in San Francisco. Only four of the cities it is proposed to enter in the league were represented at the meeting. L. C. Schroeder appeared for Alameda, a traveling club; "Brick" Devereaux for Richmond, Tom Steffani for San Jose and Walter McNenomy for Oakland. Charlie Graham or Jimmie Doyle were expected from Sacramento and Buck Franks was to have put in an appearance from Stockton, but they failed to show.

It has developed that Graham was not notified of the meeting in time to make arrangements to get to San Francisco. Franks was tied up by business in Stockton, and was unable to make the trip. On Sunday, January 24, a meeting of the magnates has been called, which will be held in Richmond. Graham and Franks, and all the rest of those interested in the State League, will be here at that time.

At Sunday's meeting plans for a schedule was talked over, but nothing definite done. Nothing was really accomplished. At the meeting to be held in Richmond it is expected that Schroeder will open up and go into detail regarding his plans.

Manager Luce of the Elks is still in that "I-want-to-be-shown" mood. Luce asserts that he has no objection to entering the league, if it can be proved to his satisfaction and to the satisfaction of the fans of this city that the organization has an ultimate chance for success. Richmond fans will be on the anxious seat for two weeks more.

SPORTING GOULASH

Sacramento started its Midwinter League Sunday. There are fourteen clubs in the league. Two hundred and sixty-six bushers of the Capital City are getting the chance to get the kinks out of their arms early. Sacramento should have plenty of material for a good club in the State League.

Although the State League plans have not gone through, Richmond is already getting publicity out of the proposition. The holding of the next meeting by those backing the league in this city will put Richmond on the baseball map strong.

Baseball news is coming thick and fast now. On Saturday "Brick" Devereaux was signed, and yesterday Luce succeeded in getting Harvey Christianson's name to a local contract.

The Sacramento Bee last night had the following comment on the State League:

A meeting was held in San Francisco yesterday and the representatives discussed the outlook for a state organization.

Charles Doyle is expected to head the local delegation. "Unless the league can show where they are going to get money to pay salaries for good players," said Doyle, "I cannot see where Sacramento would be benefited by a state league organization."

"Brick" Devereaux is a strong booster for Charley Graham for the management of the Sacramento Club of the California State League. Devereaux says Graham is one of the squarest men ever identified with baseball in this state.

"Bob" Cleek, known to all the baseball fans in this city, is renewing old acquaintanceships up and down the Rue de Macdonald. Cleek formerly played first base for the Richmond club. He is undecided as to whether he will play ball this season.

Bob Cleek is a brother of Cliff Cleek, local catcher. Baseball seems to run in the Cleek family. There is no classier little catcher in these bushes than Cliff Cleek. He is in the game every minute.

Every day that passes now brings that opening of the baseball season just one day nearer. That is good food for reflection for ye rabid baseball nuts.

When Tom Seaton, Richmond boy, who was one of the leading hurlers in the Federal League last year, arrives in Richmond he will be slipped the glad hand enough to put his salary wing out of commission. Seaton is expected to show up almost any day.

LEAVES ON VACATION.

GREATHOUSE hates WINTER like A LINTYPE MAN HATES bum COPY. DURING THE WINTER months HE DON'T live. HE JUST exists.

IT IS SAID that he HIBERNATES about THE FIRST of November AND DON'T come out OF HIDING until BASEBALL STARTS to live UP ALONG in February. GREATHOUSE is the OFFICIAL CUSTODIAN of THE diamond.

WHENEVER you admire THAT STRAIGHT line THAT RUNS from THIRD TO HOME, think OF GREATHOUSE.

THE LINE is all HIS FAULT. IN HIS time GREATHOUSE has sunk A FEW BEANS in baseball WITH LITTLE PROSPECT of getting IT BACK.

IF THERE was no BASEBALL Greathouse WOULD BE in the BUGHOUSE.

GREATHOUSE loves THAT OLD diamond GAME LIKE Speed ROGER LOVES A "SCOOP."

AT THAT, Speed SCOOPS HAVE not been VERY NUMEROUS LATELY.

WHEN THE baseball SEASON starts AGAIN "Richard the Great" will be GLAD to see all HIS FRIENDS at THE BOX OFFICE.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

BY SCOOP

SIXTEENTH SEMESTER OPENED YESTERDAY

The sixteenth semester of school at the Richmond Union high school opened yesterday morning. No changes have been made in teachers, management or curriculum, though the advisory period in existence in the school a year ago will be restored soon.

The faculty was in session several times during the day, though both the morning and afternoon programs were held with short periods for assignments of lessons. The school's enrollment amounts to about 215 members now.

FINE ATHLETE ENTERS SCHOOL

Among the new students enrolling with the opening of school yesterday, a noteworthy athlete has entered the student body, by name Robert Davis. He hails from Stockton, and while in attendance at that school during the past year, won a medal for first place in the 200-yard dash, second place in 100-yard dash, was a member of a second place track team, and was prominent in basketball circles of Stockton, being captain of a Baraca class team.

He is a freshman here, and should become very prominent in athletic circles. He will be in the track team this spring.

MISS HELEN BOYD BACK WITH JRS.

Miss Helen Boyd, a member of the class of '16, who has for the past half year been out of school, returned yesterday, and will attend in the future. She will be well remembered as being a member of the cast of "Seven-Twenty-Eight," playing the part of Jessie.

Jan. 14—Dance by Standard Oil Employees' Band at East Shore Park. Music by Schwartz orchestra.

STUDENTS' IDEAS ARE ASKED

A very novel and progressive idea was carried out by the faculty yesterday. Short essays by every student of the school relative to the merits and defects in the school's curriculum and student body activities were solicited.

The students entered into the idea, and discussed the question at length. The faculty will read the articles and endeavor to get the students' ideas of things, as they should and shouldn't be.

MANY PINS ARRIVE FOR COMMITTEE

To date 27 pins have been received by the pin committee. Many excellent designs have been submitted, but choice will not be made until even more have been received so that the committee will have a very large and comprehensive number to choose from.

Advertising is the opportunity of the merchant who knows how to use it.

REPORT OF DIVISION IS RESENTED BY UNIONISTS

The statement in a San Francisco evening paper yesterday that there is a division in the ranks of labor as to whether the labor commissioner's office or the State Immigration and Housing Commission should have charge of the free employment agencies, if this Legislature should pass a measure creating them, is branded as untrue by local unionists.

John McLaughlin, state labor commissioner, is a member of the San Francisco Labor Council, representing the teamsters in that body. Paul Scharrenberg, it is pointed out by the paper, is a member of the State Immigration and Housing Commission. Scharrenberg is also a member of the San Francisco Labor Council, being a delegate from the Sailors' Union.

The executive committee of the State Federation Sunday adopted a resolution providing that jurisdiction over the proposed free job agencies be given to either the labor commission or the immigration commission.

Pen Paralysis! Have you got it?

NO, we do not mean merely paralysis of the fingers. We mean another kind of paralysis far more serious; the kind that paralyzes the pen writer—not sometimes but always.

Pen writing in this age means needless time waste, needless labor waste, needless fatigue.

Every one who continues to write with the pen in this day of the typewriter is placing himself under a heavy time and labor handicap, a handicap which means partial paralysis of all his energies.

The cure for pen paralysis, the new and certain cure, is the

WILL HAVE TO SELL HOMES TO PAY ASSESSMENT SAY OWNERS

There was some discussion last night at the council meeting over the assessment levied against the property owners on Seventh street for the construction of the Santa Fe subway.

G. C. Henley, a resident of Seventh street, appeared before the council members and declared that if some means of taking off the assessment is not found, several of the residents of the street will be compelled to sell their homes. The matter was threw out along the same lines at the council meeting last Wednesday night. No action was taken on the matter last night. It is the intention of the council to defer the property sales as long as possible.

$2000 is Granted for our Exhibit

Two thousand dollars for the maintenance of the Richmond exhibit at the Panama-Pacific Exposition will be granted by the city council. This was secured last night, when Councilman Ludwig, chairman of the finance committee, reported that the finance committee favors the appropriation. Ludwig stated that as Richmond is to receive invaluable publicity from the exhibit, and that it is utterly worthless unless there is an attendant, he and the other members of the finance committee were in favor of the appropriation.

Ludwig's report was accepted. The matter will come for final consideration at the adjourned meeting tomorrow night.

WRECKED AUTO OWNERS HIDE IDENTITY

A large automobile found at Stege Junction yesterday morning partially wrecked and apparently abandoned, was late yesterday afternoon towed into Berkeley by employees of a garage.

The rear axle of the car was apparently cracked when the machine smashed into a pile of dirt at Cutting and San Pablo, where a sewer is being dug. When the machine reached the Junction it broke down. The car was stripped of its number before the skylarking party left it and they succeeded in hiding their identity.

There were several danger lanterns on the pile of earth which the automobile smashed into.

MRS. COWAN DIES AFTER SUFFERING 5 DAYS

Mrs. L. Cowan, wife of C. H. Cowan, conductor for the Santa Fe, prominent in fraternal circles, died yesterday morning at 8 o'clock in the Craven hospital.

The cause of her death was blood poisoning, resulting from a carbuncle on her back.

She suffered intense pain for days before her death and was conscious up to the last minute of her life.

Last Wednesday she told her husband of the pain from the small lump on her back. Thursday afternoon she was operated on by Dr. F. C. Campbell and Dr. H. Morton.

Despite the operation she did not rally and early yesterday morning Dr. Campbell was hastily summoned. He administered restoratives, but a few hours later she died.

Mrs. Lucy Saunders Cowan came to this city in 1903. She was put in charge of the Santa Fe reading room. She met C. H. Cowan, whom she married while working for the railroad.

Mrs. Cowan was born in Mexico City, Mo., October 23, 1859. She was the daughter of the late John Saunders, postmaster of the city. She is survived by a daughter, Miss Helen Cowan, 12, a pupil of the Richmond high school; her husband, C. H. Cowan; two sisters, Mrs. A. F. Rice and Mrs. F. P. Stultz; a brother, L. M. Saunders of Mexico City; a niece, Miss Sibyl Rice, and a nephew, Alverdo Rice.

Mrs. Cowan was recently elected worthy matron of Acantha Chapter, Eastern Star, and was to have been installed last week.

The funeral will be held at 1:30 Wednesday afternoon. It will be held from either the Smallwood undertaking parlors or from the Wesley Methodist church.

The ceremony will be in charge of Acantha Chapter of Eastern Star.

EIGHT BID FOR TWENTIETH ST. IMPROVING

Eight contractors bid for the job of improving Twentieth street from Southern Pacific avenue to the Santa Fe right of way, when the bids were opened at the council meeting. This is the highest number of bidders that have ever tried for a street job since paving work was started in Richmond.

The bidders were L. L. Page, S. C. Rogers, Raven Company, E. H. Higgins, C. W. McMaster, Galbraith & Jones, John Word, J. T. Dooling and T. C. Dooling.

The bids were referred to City Engineer Chapman for investigation. There were six bidders on the job of paving two blocks on Montgomery avenue. They were S. C. Rogers, Galbraith & Jones, E. H. Higgins, John Word, Frank S. Aguir, J. T. Dooling and T. C. Dooling. The bids were referred to City Engineer Chapman.

CHRISTIANITY CRITICIZED BY LECTURER SUNDAY AFTERNOON

A good crowd heard the lecture given by Walter Holloway of the San Francisco Rationalist Society Sunday afternoon in Lincoln school auditorium.

Holloway said in part: "By the war in Europe, the claim that civilization and Christianity go hand in hand has been shattered. The czar is the official head of the Greek church, King George of the English church. Emperor William is the chief figure in Christian Germany."

"Each of these with the churches allied with them is praying in the name of the same Jesus that God will bless their armies with victory."

Meanwhile Christian America, at the suggestion of the President, joined in a national day of prayer in the same name, to the same God, that the war cease."

The speaker charged that most of the fighting in the history of the world has been done by avowed Christians. He made other attacks on orthodox religion, among them, the statement that though only one-fourth of our population are church people, that four-fifths of the criminals declare themselves religiously connected.

He will deliver another lecture next Sunday in the same place at 2 o'clock.
